Top down betting, also known as a "bet-to-win" or "bet-to-vacate," is a type of wager where the goal is to reduce the amount of money at risk while still having a chance to win a predetermined amount. This strategy is often used in sports betting and involves placing a series of bets in a way that reduces the initial stake while maintaining the potential payout.

To use the top down betting strategy, you first need to determine the desired payout. This will be the amount you want to win, and it should be based on the amount of money you are willing to risk. Once you have determined the payout, you can work backwards to calculate the amount you need to bet on each individual wager.

For example, let's say you want to win R$100 using the top down betting strategy. You have a starting bankroll of R$500, and you are willing to risk 10% of your bankroll on each individual wager.

To calculate the amount you need to bet on the first wager, you can use the following formula:

$$\text{Bet} = (\text{Payout} / (\text{Odds} - 1)) * (1 - (1 / \text{Desired Pay}))$$

In this formula, "Payout" is the amount you want to win, "Odds" is the decimal odds of the bet, and "Desired Payout" is the ratio of the payout to the initial stake. For example, if the odds of the bet are 2.5 and you want to win R$100, the formula would be:

$$\text{Bet} = ($100 / (2.5 - 1)) * (1 - (1 / (100 / $100)))$$

This would give you a bet of R$40. If the bet wins, you would have R$60 remaining, which you could then use to place the next bet. If the bet loses, you would have R$460 remaining in your bankroll. You would continue placing bets in this way until you have reached your desired payout or have exhausted your bankroll.

It's important to note that top down betting is not a guaranteed way to make money, and it does involve a significant amount of risk. Before using this strategy, it's important to carefully consider your bankroll and your willingness to accept the potential losses.
