Once you've placed your ante, the dealer will deal you two cards. These are your hole cards and they're placed 3, £ face up on the table in front of you. The dealer will also deal themselves two cards, though these are 3, £ dealt face down.

Now all the hole cards have been dealt, the dealer will immediately deal the first three community cards 3, £ - the flop - before any further action takes place. Unlike in Texas Hold'em Poker, there is no pre-flop action 3, £ in Casino Hold'em other than placing the ante.

Now you have your cards and the three community cards, you're given the 3, £ option to play or fold. If you decide to play, you will have to place a bet. You should decide 3, £ whether to bet or fold based on the strength of your hand, just as you do in Texas Hold'em.

If you 3, £ decide to bet, the dealer will deal the fourth and fifth card (the turn and the river), and then turn 3, £ over their card to decide who has won. There are no further rounds of betting.

Winning in Casino Hold'em

If you can 3, £ make a stronger set of five cards using a combination of your hole cards and the community cards than the 3, £ dealer can, then you've won. If the dealer fails to make a hand better than a pair of fours then 3, £ they don't qualify and the player automatically wins that hand, regardless of what they're holding.

The amount you win on the 3, £ ante bet you placed at the beginning of the game depends on the strength of your hand, and the payouts 3, £ range from straight or less for any hands up to and including a straight in strength, all the way to 3, £ Royal Flush which pays a massive 100:1.
